Langhitt, Second Regiment, Volunteer Engineers; First Lieutenant Bronson Winthrop, Quartermaster, First New York Volunteer Infantry; First Lieutenant Lewis T. Griffith, Assistant Surgeon, First New York Volunteer Infantry; Captain P. M. Lydie, Commissary of Subsistence, United States Volunteers, and clerk. It will be seen that Colonel Barber, of the First New York, and garrison officers are on the St. Paul for Honolulu. The first lot of New Yorkers should have sailed from San Francisco last Saturday on the transports Lakme and North Fork, and will probably arrive Monday or Tuesday. The Charles Nelson will arrive a week later with the rest of the men. There will be 250 men on the first two vessels. Major William C. Langhitt, of the Engineers' Corps, will arrive on the St. Paul. The 400 engineers to assist him in Honolulu harbor defense work will come down about a week later. The new troopship Scandia is being rapidly made ready for sea. She, the Arizona, and perhaps two other vessels, will sail together for Manila.

"CITIZEN" G. FRANCIS TRAIN.

This Well Known Traveler Believes He Can Beat His Record.

The venerable Geo. Francis Train, "Citizen" Train as he is more familiarly known, globe trotter, writer, all around informed man, has been heard from again. Citizen Train is now living in New York in the now famous Mills House, which cost way up into the thousands of dollars, where all the comforts of a modern apartment hotel are furnished without the luxuries at 20 cents per day. This typical Prince of a Bohemian's invitation card reads that he receives on alternate Sundays and sets his guests up to a half dime banquet and the company of artists, professionals and press club members. He signs himself as President Drift Wood Club, 1560 solvent members.

Citizen Train is a man of the world and has ideas on every conceivable subject. He has made several tours of the world. His last trip, in '92, lasted twenty days off Jules Verne's famous eighty days' trip. He saw everything there was to see, and talked with every notable and commoner on the route who would talk; he speaks twenty languages fluently. His trips have been in the interest of some city, or syndicate or newspaper and he booms them for what they are worth and to the extent of his ability. He would now like to make a tour of the world for Honolulu, or the Islands. By close steamship connections he says he can cut his time schedule down to fifty-five days, starting from Honolulu. This is what he has written his friend, T. Martin Miller, of the Chicago Inter-Ocean, who is now in Honolulu. Citizen Train believes such a trip would be a great thing for Honolulu.

THE BOTTOM PRINCIPLE.

Nothing "merely happens so." Always keep that fact where you can see it. Whatever comes to pass has an adequate cause right behind it. I don't say this as though it were a new discovery. Not a bit. It is the bottom principle of all knowledge. But we are apt to forget it—that's the point: we forget it, and so have a lot of trouble there's no need to have.

Here is Miss Esther May, whom we are glad to hear from, and to know. In the matters set forth in her short letter she speaks, not for herself only, but for two-thirds of the women in England.

"In July, 1890," she says, "I had an attack of influenza, which left me in a weak, exhausted condition. I felt languid and tired. Everything was a trouble to me. The good appetite that is natural to me was gone; and when I did take a little food it gave me a dreadful pain in the chest. There was also a strange sensation in my stomach. I felt as if I had eaten too much when perhaps I had scarcely eaten anything.

"Then, after a time, I began to have a dry, hacking cough, and to break out in cold, clammy sweats. Not very long afterwards my ankles began to puff up and swell, so that when I stood on my feet it was very painful.

"I gradually got worse, and worse. The medicines given me by the doctors seemed to have no effect. I lost flesh, like one in consumption, and I feared I should never be any better.

"In March, 1893, a gentleman told me about Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup, and said he believed it would help me. Although I had no faith in it I sent for the Syrup began taking it. One bottle relieved me and gave me some appetite. I ate and enjoyed my food as I had not done for years. I gained strength every day.

"I am now as healthy and hearty as I ever was in my life, and I owe it to Mother Seigel's Syrup. (Signed) Esther May, Buckingham Road, Northfleet, Kent, September 8th, 1893."

"In the Spring of 1887," writes another correspondent, "my wife got into a low state of health. She complained at first of feeling tired and weary, and could not do her work as usual. Her mouth tasted badly; she couldn't eat; and she had a deal of pain in her chest and back.

"Later on her legs began to swell, and soon the swelling extended to her body. With all this her strength failed more and more, until she could just go about the house in a feeble fashion, and that was all. No medical treatment did more than to relieve her, as you may say, for the moment.

"This was her condition when Mother Seigel's Syrup first came under our notice. We read of it in a book that was left at our house. After she had taken the Syrup only a few days she was decidedly better. And, to conclude, by a faithful use of the medicine the swelling went down, her appetite came back, and she was soon as well and strong as ever. Seeing what the Syrup had done for my wife, I began to take it for indigestion and dyspepsia, which had troubled me for years; and it completely cured me. (Signed) J. Heath, Orotava House, Alpha Road, Cambridge, June 15th, 1893."

We were speaking of nothing happening without a cause. The cause of all the suffering of these two women was one and the same—indigestion and dyspepsia. Men have it often enough, but this disease is especially the bane of women—with chronic constipation as one of its worst features. It is the cause of nearly all the ills and ailments they suffer from. Let every woman get the book which Mr. Heath speaks of and learn all about it. They can thus find out what the first symptoms are, and take Mother Seigel's Syrup the very day they appear.

LONDON, July 25.—The report of the Brussels sugar conference shows that it failed through the refusal of France and Russia to join the other powers in the suppression of the export bounties. The British delegates recommend that the other governments nullify the French and Russian bounties by the imposition of countervailing duties, as done by the United States.

SPICE
LIFE

May come from many a source. We all enjoy a good laugh and when one considers how easy it is to assume duties which tend to create ill health it is not remarkable to find so many who are suffering.

MALT

Close attention to one's duties, no matter the nature, sooner or later the labors will soon become a task in this climate. You feel tired, can't eat and relish your meal; imagine you are unfortunate and long for a change.

NUTRINE

Just think a moment and consider whether the cause of your ill feelings are not due to lack of tone to your stomach, thereby overtaxing your nerve force, which eventually wrecks the whole organism.

NEVER

Try a few bottles of a true and tried remedy which has no equal as a system toner and health producer. Your physician endorses it. It will build you up and make you feel well again.

TIRES

Your druggist carries it in stock. If not ask him to get it. It has no superior. Single bottle, 35 cents. Three bottles for $1.00.
